When you participate in Oregon's Kitchen Table, the answers you provide will be reported by the National Policy Consensus Center at Portland State University to our partners in an aggregate, anonymous form. The information you provide will not contain or be linked to any information that personally identifies you, including your name, e-mail address, or mailing address. Instead, your answers are linked to an anonymous ID number that is used internally. For more information about Oregon's Kitchen Table privacy policy please refer to their website
